Creating Conversations, Building Community.

LitFest.

CANADA'S ORIGINAL
NONFICTION FESTIVAL

OCTOBER 17-27, 2019

ABOUT THE FESTIVAL

We know that not everyone considers themselves a book person, but we do know that everyone is interested in something. And with dozens of unique events during the festival—plus a few sprinkled throughout the rest of the year—LitFest reaches thousands of patrons who engage with topics as diverse as food, science, medicine, memoir, history, travel, art, architecture, the environment, business, and sport.

What started as a three day event with 13 authors has grown over the past ten years into an 11-day extravaganza with over 50 local, national, and international authors attracting an audience of 4,000+ remarkable people. Edmonton's downtown core provides the trendy urban backdrop for the conversations around topics that readers care about.

We're proud to have grown more conversations around more nonfiction topics than any other literary gathering in the country; conversations around the hottest topics of today and issues we know will shape our future.

SEND A MESSAGE TO THE COMMUNITY

We invite you to join us and the growing number of partners who have found that supporting LitFest is an excellent way to feed the community's desire for intellectual nourishment, achieve recognition for doing so, and meet the objectives of both public service and corporate responsibility. By becoming a corporate sponsor, you can play an important role in advancing the only nonfiction literary festival in Canada.

Our partners are proud of their association with our events. By supporting local voices in conversations that have a national and international impact, they demonstrate how ideas and issues that are important to Canadians are important to them, too. They understand how investing their dollars into the arts has increased the vibrancy of the community and brought people together.

ATTACH YOUR NAME TO AN ISSUE — LET YOUR CLIENTS KNOW WHAT IS IMPORTANT TO YOU

What motivates you and your clients? What important conversations are you interested in? LitFest is at the forefront of the important conversations, trends, and issues of our day. With strategic partnerships, we can broaden the discussions and create better communities.
